308] Debate resumed [Fourth Night] Aug 24, 382

Amendt., at end of last paragraph, add "And humbly to assure Her Majesty that we fear that, owing to the heavy fall in the price of agricultural produce, the greatest difficulty will be experienced in the coming winter by the Irish tenant farmers in the payment of their present rents, and many will be unable to pay these rents. That numerous evictions confiscating the rights vested in the tenants by the Land Act of 1881, causing widespread suffering and endangering the maintenance of social order will be the result. That we deprecate any attempt to transfer the loss likely to arise due to inability to pay the present rents, from the owners of land to the taxpayers of Great Britain and Ireland, by any extension of State-assisted purchase on the basis of rents fixed when prices were higher than they now are" (Mr. Parnell); Question proposed, "That those words be there added;" after long debate, Debate adjourned

. Debate resumed [Eighth Night] Aug 30, 797

Amendt. to add, at end of Question "And this House humbly expresses its regret at the continuance of the War in Upper Burmah, and the great extension of Military operations occasioned thereby; and humbly represents to Her Majesty that the expenses of the said War should not be borne exclusively by India" (Mr. S. Smith); Question proposed, "That those words be there added"

Amendt. proposed to the said proposed Amendt. To leave out all after "Burmah, and" to end of proposed Amendt., add "at learning that the Government have resolved to persevere in their policy of annexation, especially as the native population have, by their active hostility and armed resistance to the invading forces, shown that they have no desire to live under British rule" (Mr. Cremer) v.; Question proposed, "That the words, &c.;" after long debate, Question put; A. 201, N. 125; M. 76 (D.L. 4)

. Debate resumed [Ninth Night] Aug 31, 898

Amendt. at end of last paragraph, add "And this House humbly expresses its regret that the condition of affairs in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland is very unsatisfactory; that the administration of the Law does not possess the confidence of the people; that the Naval Forces are supposed to be required to overawe a portion of the population; and that the greatest and most pressing grievance of the crofters and cottars has not been remedied by the Crofters Act, which has failed to provide for the enlargement of the present inadequate holdings, and the formation of new holdings, where they are urgently required" (Mr. Esslemont); Question proposed, "That those words be there added;" after long debate, Question put; A. 121, N. 203; M. 82

. Division List, Ayes and Noes, 987

Main Question again proposed; Moved, "That the Debate be now adjourned" (Mr. Sexton); after short debate, Question put, and agreed to; Debate further adjourned

. Debate resumed [Tenth Night] Sept 1, 991

Amendt. at end of last paragraph, add "And humbly to represent to Her Majesty that certain circumstances accountable for the recent outbreak, prolongation, and repeated renewals of riots, raids for plunder, and conflicts with the Forces of the Crown, in Belfast, dictate the necessity for the prompt adoption of special measures for the maintenance of social order there, and that the most imperative and urgent of these measures are, the re-establishment of Her Majesty's authority in the district from which the Constabulary Force has been expelled by the rioters, the limitation of all powers of control over the Forces of the Crown, in times of public emergency, and adjudication upon cases of persons charged with offences against social order, to magistrates directly responsible to Her Majesty's Government, and the increase of the local Constabulary Force to such a strength as may enable it to deal with any probable contingency, until Parliament, on consideration of the Report of the Commission of Inquiry, can proceed to the application of adequate permanent measures for the protection of life and property in certain quarters of Belfast" (Mr. Sexton); Question proposed, "That those words be there added;" after long debate, Debate further adjourned

SPEAKER, The (Right Hon. ARTHUR WELLESLEY PEEL), Warwick and Leamington

Right Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peel chosen Speaker of this House Aug 5, [308] 8—is presented to the Lords Commissioners, and approved and confirmed by Her Majesty, 12, 15—and takes the Oath, 16

Double Returns — Election of Seat — Mr. Sexton having been returned for the Southern Division of the County of Sligo and the Western Division of the Borough of Belfast, had informed Mr. Speaker that he elected to serve for Belfast; and Mr. Biggar now moved the issue of a new Writ for the Sligo Division.—Mr. Speaker said, he had replied to the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Sexton) that he was not in a position to make his election, for reason that a Petition had been presented against his return for one of those constituencies. In his (Mr. Speaker's) opinion a Member could not elect to choose which of the two constituencies he should sit for, until he had been duly returned for both of them. In this case he had not been duly returned for both of them, because the return for one of them was still sub judice; and it was an old and a very well-established and well-known practice of that House that until there was no question as to the return of a Member for either of the constituencies for which he was returned he wts not able to make his choice of either. . . . . It is a well-understood Rule of the House that if a Member is returned for two places he can sit; but for which place the hon. Member is now sitting it is impossible for me to say until the Court has decided upon his return, [308] 168, 169

Procedure — Moved, "That the Address be read a second time"—Mr. Parnell: I wish to know whether the Report of the Address can be taken without Notice and without the consent of the House?—Mr. Speaker: It is not uncommon that the Report of the Address should be taken immediately after the Address has been agreed to. There is no Notice necessary for the Report of the Address—it is brought up as a matter of course immediately after the Address is agreed to, [308] 1162, 1163

Rules of Debate

Precedence in Speaking.—Mr. A. O'Connor: I wish to know whether it is not the recognized practice that the debate should be resumed by the hon. Member who moved the adjournment on the previous day? If the hon. Member who so moved the adjournment fails to be in his place at the resumption of the debate, is he entitled, at a subsequent period, to precedence over hon. Members who have been here all the evening and desire to speak?—Mr. Speaker: If the right hon. Gentleman the Member for Birmingham (Mr. J. Chamberlain) had been in his place at the commencement of the debate he would have claimed the right to address the House; but I see nothing to debar him from rising to address the House at a later period, [308] 614

Reading a Speech.—It is contrary to the Rules of the House for a Member to read his speech; but he may refer to his notes to refresh his memory, [308] 1034

Reference to a previous Debate.—I must remind the hon. Gentleman that he is not entitled, when the Speaker is in the Chair, to refer to a speech made in Committee of this Session, [309] 1288

Speaking a Second Time.—The hon. Gentleman has spoken already on the Main Question, [309] 1306

Reference to Debates in the other House.—It is a well-established Rule, and one of obvious convenience, that no reference should be made to words used in the other House of Parliament in the same Session, [308] 223

Relevancy and Irrelevancy.—The Debate on the Address—Amendments — Relevancy—Mr. Speaker states, at length, his opinion that when the general debate on the Address appears to be terminated by the introduction of an Amendment then the general discussion on the Address is closed; and the debate is thereafter confined to the subject-matter of that Amendment. But when the Amendment is concluded, the Address is again open to amendment in the interval between an Amendment and possibly a subsequent Amendment, [308] 413, 414, 1242, 1243

Irrelevancy. — Mr. Harris continuing irrelevancy of observation, though repeatedly called to Order, Mr. Speaker requested him to resume his seat, [308] 939

Mr. Flynn continuing irrelevancy of observation and tedious repetition, though repeatedly called to Order, Mr. Speaker requested him to resume his seat; but, not complying, Mr. Speaker directed him to resume his seat, [308] 983, 984

When a right hon. Gentleman has pursued a course which has brought him under the notice of the Chair, and requires him to be called to Order, Mr. Speaker does not consider that the remarks he had made are a fit subject for subsequent discussion, [308] 737, 738

Colonel Saunderson, having alluded to certain Members of the House, in connection with the Fenian Brotherhood, read the names of those who had taken the Fenian Oath, and, being challenged for his authority, referred to a pamphlet published at Chicago, U.S.—On discussion, Mr. Speaker said: The hon. and gallant Gentleman has given his authority for the statement he is making. The House must judge of the value of that authority for itself. It is not for me to interfere on a point of Order in this instance, [308] 1241

Premature discussion of a Motion. —Mr. Speaker: I must point out to the hon. Member (Mr Pickersgill) that he has introduced a Bill, which is now standing on the Paper for a second reading, which contains a distinct reference to the subject-matter of the present Motion; and as that Bill is to be brought on upon a future day, the hon. Member would not be in Order in moving his Resolution now, as he would be anticipating the discussion upon the Bill, [308] 1756

Dr. Clark: While the right hon. Gentleman shields criminals . . . . Mr. Speaker: The expression the hon. Gentleman has used is not a proper one to use in this House, and he must withdraw it, [308] 1295

The Lord Advocate: I am rather inclined to think that if the manner and tone of the hon. Member (Dr. Clark) were pretty much the same as we have seen him occasionally adopt in this House . . . . Mr. Speaker: The right hon. and learned Gentleman is not entitled to use that expression, and I hope he will withdraw it, [308] 1299

After Question put, Captain Colomb said: Mr. Speaker, at this moment an hon. Member (Dr. Tanner) crossed from the other side of the House and said to me that I had said he was paid for obstructing, and that I was a liar . . . . After the Division, Mr. Speaker said, that as the words complained of had been used in the House that matter had come under his authority; that while the Division was in progress both the hon. Members had expressed to him their deep regret at the occurrence, and had unreservedly withdrawn the words that had given offence, and tendered their apologies to each other and to the House, [308] 1164, 1165

Mr. Parnell: I wish to know whether the noble Lord (Lord R. Churchill) is entitled to impute a Parliamentary offence to any Member or Party in this House—the offence of Obstruction?—Mr. Speaker: I have never understood that there was anything un-Parliamentary in attributing that quality to any hon. Member, [308] 1170

Dr. Commins: I wish to know, Sir, whether the hon. and learned Gentleman (Mr. Macartney) is in Order in speaking of the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Pinkerton), or any other Member of the House, as a renegade to his religion or anything else?—Mr. Speaker: The hon. and learned Gentleman must withdraw that expression. It is un-Parliamentary, [308] 1136

Mr. W. Redmond: I shall not condescend to follow the hon. Tory Member for Antrim (Mr. Macartney) through the low and scurrilous depths of language into which he has fallen. —Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member has made use of an improper and un-Parliamentary expression, and I hope he will at once withdraw it, [308] 1138

Mr. W. Redmond: I will not even say that the hon. Member's speech was "ditch-water," although he said that about the speech of one of my hon. Friends. In fact, I will not follow such an ungentlemanly line of argument.—Mr. Speaker: If the hon. Member repeats this language I shall have to take the very severe course of Naming him. This is the second time I have called him to Order for using expressions which are highly improper and un-Parliamentary. I will now ask him to express regret to the House for having used the last expression which has fallen from him.—Mr. W. Redmond: The expression "ungentlemanly" I unreservedly withdraw, and I would not have used it if I had thought it was un-Parliamentary.—Mr. Speaker: I do not consider that the hon. Member has made an apology to the House. —Mr. W. Redmond: Then, Sir, I will apologize to the House, [308] 1139, 1140

Reflections on Members of the House of Lords.—I must remind the hon. Member (Dr. Tanner) that a certain amount of courtesy is due from the Members of one branch of the Legislature to those of the other. The hon. Member has been alluding to a noble Duke in "another place" in a manner which violates the obligation of courtesy due from a Member of the House of Commons to a Member of the House of Lords.—Subsequently, the hon. Member continuing his irrelevance and tedious repetition, Mr. Speaker asked him to resume his seat, [308] 937, 938

The hon. Member (Mr. Baumann) is referring to some language used outside the House; but if he, as a Member of this House, charges the hon. Member for Caithness with "vulgar and venomous scurrility," it is an expression which is not Parliamentary, and not suited to the dignity or the Forms of this House, [308] 910, 920

Mr. Speaker: I do not think the right hon. Gentleman (Sir William Harcourt) is justified in that line of argument. [A Voice from the Home Rule Benches: Shame!] That is a most unjustifiable expression, and if I knew who used it I would take action. [Cries of "Name!"]—Sir William Harcourt: Of course, I shall bow absolutely to your ruling. I only wish, Sir . . . . Mr. Speaker: The right hon. Gentleman is now arguing with the Chair. . . . Sir William Harcourt: I shall absolutely obey your ruling, Sir, [308] 1156, 1157

Mr. T. W. Russell: I came to this House determined to vote as my conscience directed me, either for or against the Government —— Dr. Tanner: You never had one.—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Member has made use of a most improper and un-Parliamentary expression, which I must ask him at once to withdraw, [308] 465

Imputation on Members of this House.—Colonel Saunderson: As far as I understand the explanation, the hon. Member (Mr. Harris) now informs the House of an interesting fact which I was not aware of before—namely, that he belongs to the Ribbon Organization.—Mr. Dillon: I rise to Order. I wish to know whether the hon. and gallant Member is entitled to accuse the hon. Member of belonging to the Ribbon Organization?—Mr. Speaker: It is not an accusation, but a statement that the hon. Member has admitted a certain fact. It is for the House to judge.—After some time, Mr. Speaker said: I think it must be the wish of the House that these personal recriminations should cease, [308] 517, 518

Mr. Speaker: I have already stated that if the hon. and gallant Gentleman (Colonel Saunderson) intends, by the expression he made use of, to impute to the hon. Member for Cork (Mr. Parnell) the act of having turned on crime at his pleasure, I do not consider that would be a Parliamentary expression, and I think it should be withdrawn, [308] 525

Questions—Notice—Mr. J. G. Hubbard, in his place, proposed to give Notice that on a subsequent day he would ask a Question of the Home Secretary respecting an article in The Daily News entitled "The Tithe War in Wales."—Mr. Speaker: As I understand, the right hon. Gentleman is now giving Notice of a Question. According to the Rule of the House made last Session, the right hon. Gentleman must give Notice of the Question to the Clerk at the Table in the usual way, [308] 254, 556

Supply—Mr. Tuite said, he rose to call attention to the administration of justice in Ireland, and to the fact that successive Lords Lieutenant of Ireland, in the face of new facts which had come to light in connection with the Barbavilla prisoners, had neglected their administrative duties. — Mr. Speaker: I must call the attention of the hon. Member to the fact that I have already ruled, at an earlier period of the evening—[308] 1755—that the question of the Barbavilla murder has no reference whatever to the Estimates now before the House. The Standing Order states that distinctly—that no Question shall be raised, or Motion made, that is not strictly relevant to the Estimates to be taken in Supply, [308] 1774

Mr. Speaker: In my opinion the Report of Supply is part of the same transaction as Committee of Supply, and is therefore covered by the Resolution which was passed by the House the other day, [308] 1481

Supply—Relevancy—I do not know how the hon. Member (Mr. Labouchere) proposes to connect his remarks with the Estimates. It is altogether out of Order to enter into details on the Motion that the Speaker do leave the Chair; and, further, it is out of Order to refer to Estimates which are not now before the House, but which have been already disposed of in the previous Session, [308] 1789, 1793

On Motion for Leave to bring in the Consolidated Fund (Appropriation) Bill, Mr. Pickersgill said, if he were in Order he would move to reduce the amount voted for the Medical Staff of the Post Office by the sum of £100.—Mr. Speaker said, it would not be in Order to put the Motion. The Question before the House was that leave be given to bring in the Bill. The hon. Member moved to strike out an item; but he could not do that on the introduction of a measure, [309] 942

Supply—Committee—Mr. Sexton having complained of an error in the Votes which he sought to have rectified—Mr. Speaker said: I have no cognizance of what takes place in Committee of Supply. I am only cognizant of those matters which take place when I am in the Chair. The hon. Member had better make a representation to the Chairman of Committees. I have no doubt that if any mistake has been committed it will at once be rectified, [309] 28
